This is an exciting opportunity for an experienced Childrens and young people's practitioner to work directly with children and young people on a 1-1 basis within an education setting. You will play a key role as part of the Mental Health support teams and form part of the wider multi-agency partnership. The role requires you to undertake assessments, meeting with parent's teachers and children as well as providing 1-1 sessions within a time limited framework around low level mental health and wellbeing support.

Roles will require the following:

- Experience of working with children, young people and their families
- Experience of supporting people with low level emotional wellbeing and mental health issues
- A recognised Counselling or therapy qualification to a minimum of level 4
